

Professional Women in Building Membership Application 2016

PROFESSIONAL WOMEN IN BUILDING

An NAHB organization chartered 50 years ago, the Professional Women in Building is affiliated with the Home Builders Association at both the local and national level. The HBA of Greater Austin Professional Women in Building chapter #4512 was chartered in 1978 as the Women's Council, and celebrated its 30th anniversary in October 2008.

Membership Profile

The Professional Women in Building is an organization dedicated to supporting the professional development of women in the construction industry. Serving more than 2,800 members nationally, the Professional Women in Building consists of women and men who are NAHB members (builders and associates) and are affiliated with an NAHB member company (employees or extended family) throughout the country. Locally, the Professional Women in Building has approx 20 members from the 700 member firms of the HBA.

Goals

The HBAGA Professional Women in Building works to achieve the following goals:

- The professional organization representing women in the building industry.
- A conduit of information, educational and networking opportunities for women in the building industry.
- A positive force in the industry by supporting the local HBA, state TAB and national NAHB goals and activities, including legislative and political involvement.

COUNCIL PROGRAMS

The Professional Women in Building recognizes its role in supporting the overall building industry. The Council mobilizes its membership to assist efforts spearheaded by the HBA, as well as the state and national builders associations. On the local level, our efforts include:

Scholarship Program

The HBAGA Professional Women in Building awards annual college level scholarships to students who are dependents of HBA members.

Community Involvement

Community service projects are conducted throughout the year, most recently benefiting SafePlace and Austin Habitat for Humanity. Our members present the NAHB WC Homes of Our Own educational program to local area schools. This program promotes stewardship of the land by the home building industry.

MEMBERSHIP AND DUES

As a regular member, $75 annual dues are paid to the HBAGA Professional Women in Building, which includes $25 for local membership and $50 for national membership to the NAHB Professional Women in Building. Dues are set on an anniversary basis, so that members receive a full year’s membership value for their money. Dues also include a subscription to the magazine of the NAHB Professional Women in Building and Membership Roster from the Austin chapter. Questions? Contact 2016 Professional Women in Building President Vanessa Zabala at VValero@PestDefense.com or Treasurer, Tanya Butoryak at Tanya.Butoryak@mesahome.com.
